Just a few of the many images to be sold at auction

Brooks Institute and Direct Relief International are dedicated to raising $20,000 to rebuild a school for the children of Laos. Brooks alumnus, Bryan Watt and his wife, Dr. Leila Srour, have dedicated their lives to helping those children in need. As a photographer, Bryan dedicates 100% of his profits to the cause while Leila donates her medical expertise to the children. Brooks is dedicated to fulfilling a dream of rebuilding a new school for the children, and now we need your help.

Brooks is hosting a silent auction with donated prints from distinguished alumni, faculty, friends of Brooks, students and staff. Please join us for the opening reception and silent auction for this wonderful cause. Bryan and Leila will attend.
